

CAPITAL FOOD FIGHT

DC'S BADDEST NIGHT OF DOING GOOD

DC Central Kitchen is pleased to present our signature fundraising event, Capital Food Fight, on November 12, 2026. Founded in partnership with Chef José Andrés, this iconic celebration returns to one of our city's most beloved concert venues, The Anthem. Join DC Central Kitchen, superstar chefs, and the region's hottest restaurants for a can't-miss evening that raises critical funds for our fight against hunger and poverty. Long known as one of the region's best culinary events, the Capital Food Fight will provide partners like you an unmatched opportunity to engage a record number of guests, entertain clients, and be publicly recognized for your investments in our shared community.

This year will be the biggest Capital Food Fight yet as DC Central Kitchen celebrates the 22nd installment of the Baddest Night of Doing Good! As always, guests will be treated to a thrilling live show as four local top chefs compete in an onstage battle hosted and judged by the biggest names in the culinary world with special surprise appearances from legends in the worlds of culinary arts, professional sports, and music. Recent hosts and judges have included José Andrés, Carla Hall, Spike Mendelsohn, Tom Colicchio, Amanda Freitag, Andrew Zimmern, Maneet Chauhan, Kristen Kish, Kwame Onwuachi, Daniel Boulud, Eric Adjepong and Mr. National Ryan Zimmerman.
